SOCIOLOGY

Bachelor of Arts

Sociology is the scientific study of human societies. At the macro-level, sociology studies societies as a whole and their social institutions such as the family, economy, religion, polity, and education. At the micro-level, sociology is concerned with everyday interactions within small social groups. The purpose of the sociology curriculum is to: provide education in the theories, concepts, definitions and language of sociology; cultivate an understanding of the methods of research and interpretation of research findings; prepare students for graduate study in sociology; develop selected skills applicable to careers in the public or private sector.
